Rocker Two

While its heritage might be southern, the Rocker Two finds elegance in its lengthy back and slender lines. It plays with a traditional archetype; the rocker you might remember your grandmother rocking in, elevating it with an exposed, oversized bottom curve and slim vertical lines. The back rest and seating plane, both made out of thin oak strip wood, pass through each other as if woven, allowing light to pass through and soften the Rocker's nature. Custom materials, dimensions and finishes available.
