

STUDIO PAOLO FERRARI

Ame Technical

Ame, the Japanese word for rain, represents the first collaboration between Studio Paolo Ferrari and Hiroko Takeda. Inspired by the rich heritage of garment making and the origins of textiles, the collaboration is characterized by the properties inherent in the natural and technical. Inspired by Western rain gear, Ame Technical features an athletic textile with color showing through a white knit. This piece was conceived for Colony's group show, Pas de Deux, 2019. Custom materials, dimensions and finishes available.
