Rift Sconce No. 2

A stoneware wall sconce is lit from within and features a central opening, allowing for a soft glowing light gradient. This sconce features a Cone 10 gas reduction ceramic finish, a high-fire process that produces unique and often unpredictable results. Variations in color, texture, and surface quality are natural outcomes of this technique and are considered part of the piece's character. These organic shifts are not flaws, but rather a reflection of the artistry and individuality of each firing.
