RIDGE Sconce

Taking cues from the shape of a leaf and the silhouette of a bird's wing span, the Ridge Sconce feels ancient and thoroughly modern. When viewed from the front the sconce has a central spine that is revealed to be more of a ridge when viewed from the side, pressing away from the wall like mountain ridges. The Ridge Sconce has two dimmable LED light sources that shoot light up and down toward the sconces points. The shade features a magnetized connection to the lamp body.
