

Sarah Sherman Samuel
Bivvy Lounfe Chair

Named after a bivouac, a temporary shelter within the landscape, the bivvy chair reinterprets the utility and comfort of a camp retreat through a generously scaled upholstered form. loose cushions rest atop its block-like form, secured by wide fabric straps that wrap around the arms and sides in a nod to the ties and fastenings of a tent. relaxed yet structured, bivvy brings together a sense of refuge with an expressive, highly crafted silhouette
